

Masonry's GRADUALISM and the Vatican

by

Antonio Gramsci, the initiator of modern Communism, did not invent the strategy of conquest by surreptitious infiltration. His doctrine of GRADUALISM, a slow, imperceptible but unrelenting transformation of society by morphing its moral precepts while gaining control over its CHURCHES, universities, the media and political parties, is an old, tried and tested Masonic method that predates Gramsci's seminal "Prison Papers".

The success of Masonic GRADUALISM is due to its disciplined implementation within the Lodges, as individual members progress in stages on the path of Masonic knowledge and obedience, all the while seeking the Arcanum Arcanorum (Secret of Secrets), the central force guiding Free Masonry.. This quest requires adhering to Masonic rules, while practicing certain rites that include taking numerous oaths of submission and allegiance, some of which were declared "blasphemous" by the Anglican Commission studying Masonry in 1987. That Commission concluded that grave and fundamental reasons exist to question the compatibility of Masonry and the Christian faith. The endeavor to corrupt Christian beliefs and moral tenets has been in progress for decades. The Commission undoubtedly was aware of the fact that the Archbishop of Canterbury, Geoffrey F. Fisher and the Catholic-Orthodox Patriarch Atenagoras I, both key participants in ecumenical consultations with Pope Paul VI, were registered Free Masons, a fact gleefully confirmed in Masonic literature.

In 1978, the Vatican was shocked and shaken by the news published in the Osservatore Politico, an investigative journal based in Rome, Italy, revealing that 121 Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops and other prelates of the Catholic Church were REGISTERED members of Masonic lodges. The author, Mino Pecorelli, himself a member of the infamous P2 lodge which was involved in the collapse of the Banco Ambrosiano a few years later, a bankruptcy that cost the Vatican millions of dollars, was found shot in his car a few months later. It is true that Pecorelli had many enemies. But his decision to publish the list was in clear contravention to the ironclad Masonic rule of 'Omerta' .

In the early 1970s, Joseph Ratzinger, then Cardinal Prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of Faith, instructed two learned priests, Rosario F. Esposito, a member of the Pauline Congregation, and the Jesuit Giovanni Caprile, to examine and evaluate the considerable tensions between Masonic Lodges and the Catholic Church. Much earlier, twenty years after the founding of modern Masonry in 1717, Pope Clemens XII ordered the excommunication of any baptized Catholic who chose to become a member of a Masonic Lodge. The ban was upheld until the Aggiornamento of Vatican II, when the Excommunication Paragraph 2335 no longer appeared in the revised Canonic Law. without cogent explanation.

Once again, to the extreme discomfiture of the Vatican, an international agency bulletin dated March 5th 2007 stated, that the Catholic priest of the Pauline Congregation Rosario F. Esposito became a member of the Grand Lodge of Italy after his candidacy was submitted by none other than the Grand Master of the Lodge himself. In subsequent Masonic publications, both Caprile and Esposito were described as Masonic *converts *. Cardinal Ratzinger, the Prefect at the time and now Pope Benedict XVI, reinstated the ban immediately.

Esposito, by openly making known his choice, did Christianity a favor. His decision highlighted the powerful attraction of Masonry's hidden core, a formidable force whose vortex was described by the philosopher Immanuel Kant as "radical evil". Esposito's decision to be open and frank about the master he chose to serve, was in full accordance with the scriptural advice against 'sitting on the fence': (Rev. 3/16) *because you are lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold, I will spit you out of my mouth" Esposito threw in his lot with the Counter-Creation's evolutionary logic, which is carnal in nature and fundamentally materialistic. He chose a 'reality' that generates artificial intelligence and synthetic life. This 'reality' spins a cocoon enveloping humanity ever more tightly. He opted for the transience of time and death by renouncing Christ's redemption and its promise of life eternal.

The root of evil (RADIX MALI) is best described in the few concise passages cited below, which were published in the 'Secret Doctrine' over one hundred years ago.. The author of this blasphemous lie was a Mason and a co-founder of the Theosophical Society: Madame Helena Petrovna Blavatsky, .:

"In this case it is but natural...to view Satan, the Serpent of Genesis, as the real creator and benefactor, the Father of Spiritual mankind. For it is he who was the 'Harbinger of Light', bright radiant Lucifer, who opened the eyes of the automaton created by Jehovah, as alleged; and he who was the first to whisper: 'in the day ye eat thereof ye shall be as Elohim, knowing good and evil' – can only be regarded in the light of a Saviour... And now it stands proven that Satan, or the Red Fiery Dragon, the 'Lord of Phosphorous' (brimstone was a theological improvement), and Lucifer, or 'Light Bearer' , is in us, it is our Mind – our tempter and Redeemer, our intelligent liberator and Saviour from pure animalism. Without this principle... we would be surely no better than animals." (Volume two, Theosophical University Press 1888, p. 241 and 513)

This blasphemous lie is the Secret of Secrets or Arcanum Arcanorum, most Masons do not yet understand, but is guiding and motivating those who do.

Adolph Hitler, not a Mason, was an avid nightly reader of the 'Secret Doctrine'.

Today, the numerous offshoots of RADIX MALI, the root of evil, jointly pursue a single purpose the goal they jointly share: The world dictatorship of Globalism, Their aim and vision is to build a pyramid encompassing the whole of humanity. This construct is nearing completion and is watched over by the all seeing eye of the god and master they chose to serve. That eye is ever present and observing everyone and everything in the world night and day,.not unlike the computer search engines which will become its faithful servants.

And all those who did not seek and choose wisely, refusing to opt with all their heart, mind and being for the redemption of Christ, will have to live in a state of cruel slavery under the authoritarian dictatorship.of Globalism.

“But all in a moment I faced it,
This robe seemed to me like a mirror.
And in it, I saw my whole self.
Moreover I faced myself facing into it,
For we were two together divided,
Yet in one we stood, in one likeness.”
(Hymn of the Pearl, author unknown, Second Century A,D.)

Which of the ”two together divided” will prevail in us and the world? We must choose today!
